Chickens are birds that are raised as livestock, and are typically kept on farms. Depending on the gender of the chicken, it can be called 2 different things. A male chicken is a rooster, and a female chicken is a hen. Hens lay eggs, which are another reason why chickens are farmed. Chickens tend to live between 5 and 10 years.